NLC Beneficiaries Graduate from Skills Training Programme

16 March 2017

Yesterday the National Lotteries Commission (NLC) hosted a graduation ceremony for beneficiaries who had successfully completed a course as part of its Structured Capacity Building Graduation on governance, financial management and procurement. The ceremony took place in Kimberley, Northern Cape.

At the NLC's 2015 national Indaba, it was resolved that the NLC develop platforms and programmes for beneficiary capacity building, and the Northern Cape was the first of four provinces where training began in 2016. This week's graduates will be the first ambassadors for this programme as it continues to be rolled out around the country.

NLC Executive Manager for Corporate Services Modjadji Makoela wished graduates well and reminded them of the importance of putting the skills in practice for the sustainability of their organisations, and to ensure continued positive impact in their communities.

The course was provided by a SAQA accredited service provider and certificates are pitched NQF Level 4, giving them skills that will be recognized in the marketplace and empower them as individuals as well.

Ends.
